

Course Outcomes: POLS 119

Native American Fisheries Treaty Rights

The following are working course outcomes. These outcomes will be reviewed by the NWIC Curriculum Committee during the curricular review process in 2017 with the intent of creating and approving course outcomes.

At the completion of this course students will be able to:

- Describe biological, legal, and political impacts on the Tribal Fisheries and rights
- Identify and give examples of Tribal Hunting/Gathering/Water Rights
- Listen and summarize the main points, using appropriate listening strategies
- Apply effective communication
- Describe the key components of Boldt I and Boldt II