CULTURAL ARTS PROGRAM NWIC is committed to providing indigenous peoples with opportunities to learn about and develop skills related to tribal history and cultural arts through annual conferences, courses, workshops and trainings. We host two separate Weavers Teaching Weavers Conferences, one at the NWIC Lummi campus in April, and another during the summer in Eastern WA, Idaho, or Oregon. Our family culture camp, Camp Ne-Schaleche takes place at a retreat center every August.
FOR INFO ON CULTURAL ARTS, CONTACT RUTH SOLOMON AT RSOLOMON@NWIC.EDU

FINANCIAL EDUCATION PROGRAM Helping families and students manage their money and get financially fit through a variety of ongoing classes, individual financial counseling and family activities grounded in Native community asset-building. Classes benefit tribal members, high school and college students who want to improve their credit, prepare and budget for college, access college funding, start a business, buy a home, and gain control over their financial futures.
FOR INFO ON FINANCIAL LITERACY, CONTACT EDNA REVEY AT EMREVEY@NWIC.EDU

INSTITUTE OF INDIGENOUS FOOD AND TRADITIONS Serving as a hub where Cooperative Extension and our partners come together to exchange and share best practices and resources in an effort to build tribal community strength and resiliency. The Institute will offer an annual conference to share best practices and models for community change.

FOR INFO ON THE INSTITUTE, CONTACT SUSAN GIVEN-SEYMOUR AT SGIVEN@NWIC.EDU

TRADITIONAL PLANTS & FOODS PROGRAM NWIC's Traditional Plants & Foods Program is a long-term general wellness, nutrition and diabetes prevention program that recognizes the therapeutic value of traditional foods and medicines. Regular program gatherings are hosted by many tribal communities. We offer educational resources, tribal community workshops, tribal educator training and more. The program includes the following: Lummi Food Sovereignty Project; Muckleshoot Food Sovereignty Project; and Traditional Foods and Medicines (located at the Northwest Indian Treatment Center).
FOR INFO ON PLANTS & FOODS, CONTACT VANESSA COOPER AT VCOOPER@NWIC.EDU

TRIBAL MUSEUM STUDIES PROGRAM We now offer four online/hybrid courses in Tribal Museum Studies. Students may earn academic, transferrable credit to an NWIC Associate of Arts and Sciences Degree, or to one of our Bachelor of Arts degree programs, OR take the four courses and earn an Award of Completion in Tribal Museum Studies.
