

Course Outcomes: ANTH 103

Epistemology

The following are working course outcomes. These outcomes will be reviewed by the NWIC Curriculum Committee during the curricular review process in 2017 with the intent of creating and approving course outcomes.

At the completion of this course students will have an understanding of:

- Basic theoretical and methodological tools used by archaeologists to understand the human past
- The linkages between the environment and social structure on the Northwest Coast, including archaeological explanations for changes in this relationship over time
- The relevance of archaeology in the present, including the benefits and challenges of collaboration between archaeologists and tribal