

Course Outcomes: NASD 202

The Native American Experience

The following are working course outcomes. These outcomes will be reviewed by the NWIC Curriculum Committee during the curricular review process in 2017 with the intent of creating and approving course outcomes.

At the completion of this course students will be able to:

- Recognize how social, political, cultural and historical factors shape the Native American experience
- Articulate how colonization has impacted Native Americans
- Analyze film and literature critically
- Write clearly and in a grammatically correct manner
- Synthesize, analyze and reason logically for discovery and problem solving
