

Course Outcomes: POLS 240

Indian Policy & Tribal Self-Governance

The following are working course outcomes. These outcomes will be reviewed by the NWIC Curriculum Committee during the curricular review process in 2017 with the intent of creating and approving course outcomes.

At the completion of this course students will be able to:

- Provide an historical overview of the United States Indian Policy and its impact on North America
- Discuss and review the relationship between, tribal, federal and state and the effects of Indian self-determination and economic development on reservations
