Family Education Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA)

The purpose of The Family Education Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 is to assure that all students, including those attending an institution of post secondary education, have access to their educational records and to protect such individuals' right to privacy by limiting transferability of their records without their consent.

Northwest Indian College supports this Act and maintains access for students to review the validity of their Northwest Indian College educational records. The Registrar monitors access to academic records.
